

Jacobs & Cushman San Diego Food Bank Emergency Food Assistance Program

About the Emergency Food Assistance Program:

The Jacobs & Cushman’s San Diego Food Bank’s Emergency Food Assistance Program distributes emergency food packages at 80 different locations across San Diego County every month. The majority of the food distributed at these sites includes nonperishable and shelf-stable food items.

Where do Emergency Food Assistance Program food distributions take place?

The Food Bank partners with 80 nonprofits across San Diego County. The food distributions often take place in a parking lot. The Food Bank’s truck delivers food to the site, and volunteers from the nonprofit put the food in grocery bags and give the groceries to our clients standing in line.

Are there income guidelines for the Emergency Food Assistance Program?

Yes. To qualify for this program, your household must meet federal income guidelines determined by household size and household income (see below).

Please note: Proof of income is NOT REQUIRED to receive food from this program. This is a verbal self-certification program.
